++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Feeling cold, with sunny spells. Possible snow showers later.

Today:
A colder start than recently, with frost clearing through the morning under sunny skies. Patchy cloud approaches towards noon, allowing for sunny spells, but remaining cold, especially in the wind. Largely dry, though the odd snow shower for some later. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
This evening, the odd snow shower may continue for some, but generally skies will clear into the night, allowing for a calm but cold night, with widespread frost developing. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Tuesday:
A frosty start to a bright and settled morning, before a scattering of snow showers arrives around noon, continuing through to the evening, clearing again into the night. Cold throughout. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Largely cold, wintry, and windy through this period, with widespread frosts. Mainly dry Wednesday, with some showers and overnight rain Thursday, winds strengthening. Rain followed by wintry showers on Friday.
